

Everything a growing business needs.

Including a price
you can afford.

What's the good news in telecommunications? Technology has made it more powerful and capable than ever before. The best news of all? One Communications is using this technology to provide you with simple, easy, and affordable telecommunications solutions.

Introducing OneSolutionsSM Essential. Designed to give your business more value for your money.

The blueprint we used to build our new small-business bundle was the needs of businesses just like yours:

- :: Reliable local and long distance phone service, and high-speed Internet access that's fast enough to keep up with the pace of business
- :: A simple solution that's capable enough to help your business grow, but affordable enough to fit your budget—about 30% less than the big phone companies charge
- :: Professional installation and seamless integration with your current equipment with responsive, comprehensive service if ever there's a problem

Then, we considered what you don't need—like the hassle of dealing with multiple providers. So we decided to put it all together in a feature-rich package, and offer it at an affordable, flat rate—one bill, from one provider. And since it's everything you need for telecommunications, we called it OneSolutionsSM Essential.

Because we know smaller businesses have sophisticated needs, we even included some enhanced features—like email, Web hosting, voice mail, and your favorite calling features. It's simply the most your telecommunications dollar can buy.
